

HEEL

Teach your dog to heel with your arm coming down in front of your dog with your palm extended forward.

STAY

Command your pet to stay by slowly extending your arm and hand straight down with palm flat landing right next to your pet's nose without contact.

COME

Teach your pet to come to you with your arms outstretched, then move your arms down to the front of your body.

It is advisable to combine verbal commands with hand signals to enhance your pet's knowledge about it. They will soon respond to either verbal or hand signal once they learn to relate your hand signal with the desired action. Bear in mind that if you want your pet to enjoy obedience training, give him treats and praise that will encourage him to work willingly.
